BUILDINGS IN ENGLAND HAVING MURAL
OR OTHER PAINTED DECORATIONS.

OF

DATES PREVIOUS TO THE MIDDLE OF THE 16TH CENTURY.

[COMPILED FOR THE USE OF SCIENCE AND ART IN THE UNITED KINGDOM.]

PRINTED BY GEORGE ALLEN & UNWIN, LTD., LONDON.

NOTICE.

1. THE present brief notices are the commencement of an attempt suggested by the Director of the South Kensington Museum to collect existing evidences of painting in England from the earliest times to the Reformation.

2. For the present the list is necessarily imperfect, and notices of omissions will be gratefully received. Valuable aid has been received from many correspondents, to whom the compiler's best thanks are due, towards completing this second and much enlarged issue of the list.

3. Where printed notices of Mural Paintings have been found, references of such notices have been given. The brief descriptions have been taken, where special sources of information were not available, from the authorities quoted. A few names are left of places where paintings formerly existed, and of which records or copies are preserved, as the paintings of St. Stephen's Chapel, Westminster, coloured copies of which were published by the Society of Antiquaries in the Vetusta Monumenta, Vol. VI.

4. As almost all early Churches in England had some mural painting, and the progress of "restoration" has brought much of this to light, there are, no doubt, other examples that I have not yet heard of or found described, and many, it is to be feared, have perished without any record being preserved.

5. Paintings on screens or other wood-work have been included in the present list.

R. H. SODEN SMITH.
